Ipswich's first choice for local news

Located on the Bremer River, Ipswich sits around 40 kilometres west of Brisbane and began in 1827 as a thriving mining settlement. Today, the city has grown to more than 225,000 residents and is projected to expand rapidly in the years ahead, with its economy expected to reach $12.7 billion by 2026.

The region is now served by the Ipswich Tribune Today, created through the amalgamation of Ipswich West Moreton Today and the Ipswich Tribune in December 2025, proudly serving the community with reliable, locally focused journalism.

Ipswich is home to major national and global employers, including RAAF Base Amberley – the Royal Australian Air Force's largest operational base – and General Electric's Queensland headquarters in Springfield. The city's strong health care, retail and manufacturing sectors support thousands of jobs, with more than 14% of locals employed in manufacturing alone.

Renowned for its rich architectural, natural and cultural heritage, Ipswich features over 6000 heritage-listed sites and more than 500 parks.
